Course introduction

An elective course designed to bring awareness, knowledge and understanding of the factors influencing internationalisation of companies and its effect to global and international marketing.

It is undeniable that the effect of the ever-increasing number of domestic firms exporting, importing, and/or manufacturing abroad; the number of foreign-based firms operating in most markets; the growth of regional trade areas; the rapid growth of world markets; and the increasing number of competitors for global markets is challenging companies to participate in international business activities. Entering a globally and an internationally competitive environment definitely influences how companies design their marketing communications in a creative and sustainable manner. Throughout this course, students are expected to have acquired and/or learned the following competencies; communicative, professional, global and creativity.

Course objectives

After completing the course, students are expected to:

- understand international marketing and its scope
- appreciate the increasing importance of global awareness
- see how international marketing concepts influence international marketers
- be able to identify and manage the factors influencing internationalisation of companies
- evaluate the progression of becoming an international marketer
- analyse different international marketing strategies
- create a strategic marketing concept and strategy

Course language

This course is taught completely in English. Students will need to have an intermediate to advanced level of English in order to comprehend the lesson content, to be able to actively participate, and to complete the assignments and other requirements.

Course format

This will be a (3)three-hour inclass interactive discussion.
